Activity Title: Field studies – freshwater stream		Participants: 33

Highlights:

S5 students had the chance to apply the knowledge learnt from biology lesson in a one-day field study. Two teachers (from Caritas Chan Chun Ha Field Studies Centre) led the students to investigate the freshwater stream in Mui Wo. They took measurements of the abiotic factors and made observations on the organisms in the field. After they finished the fieldwork, they brought some samples to the laboratory of the centre for further investigation. They used different types of microscope to identify the adaptive features of organisms.
